Summary

I teach general, conversational, and academic English, as well as English for work, study, exams, and relocation.

My lessons are based on my own presentations, which I create myself for each topic.

I explain grammar clearly without memorization, focus on understanding, and always include speaking practice. Lessons are adapted to each student's goals and pace.

I work with teenagers and adults who want to use English confidently for real life — work, studies, exams, or moving abroad.

Work Experience

I have experience working with different companies and teaching students English, helping them improve their communication skills
